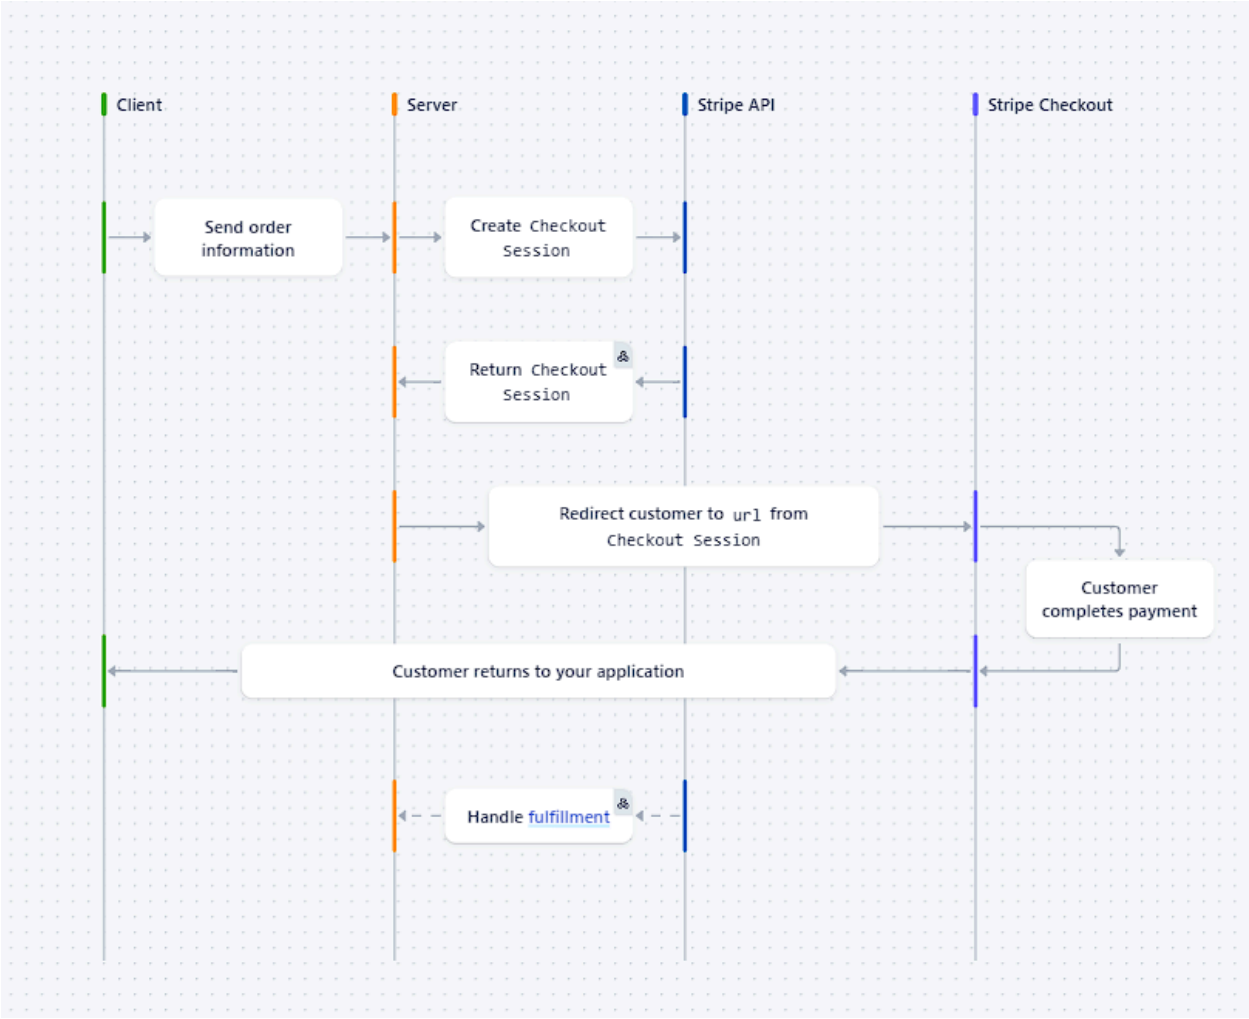
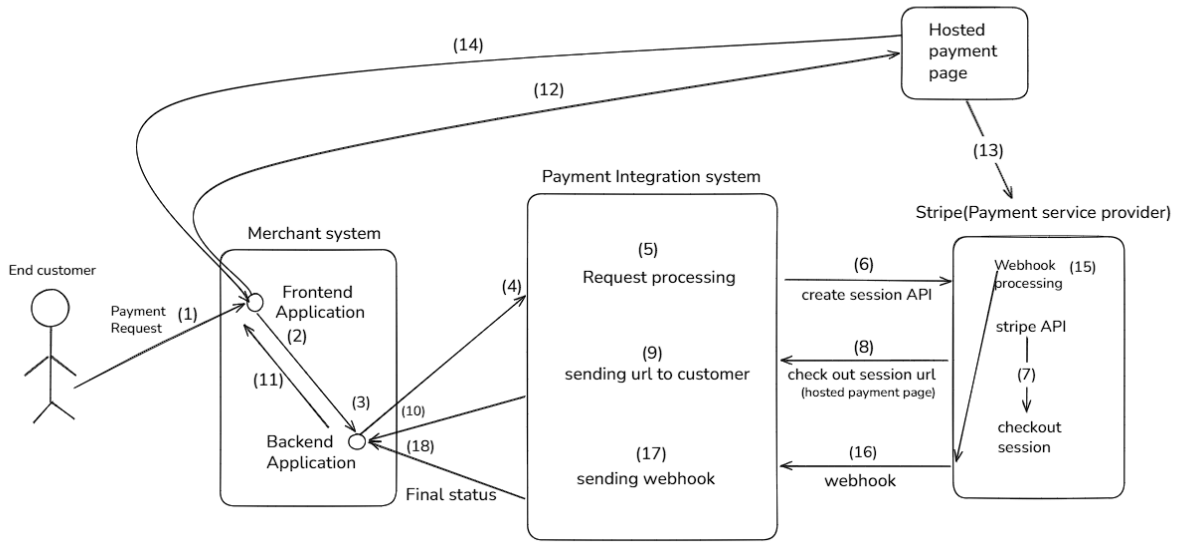
Functional flow of Stripe

- When customers are ready to complete their purchase, your application creates a new Checkout Session.
- The Checkout Session provides a URL that redirects customers to a Stripe-hosted payment page.
- Customers enter their payment details on the payment page and complete the transaction.
- After the transaction, a webhook fulfills the order using the checkout.session.completed event.





Functional flow of stripe